United Curriculum Principles: Art & Design

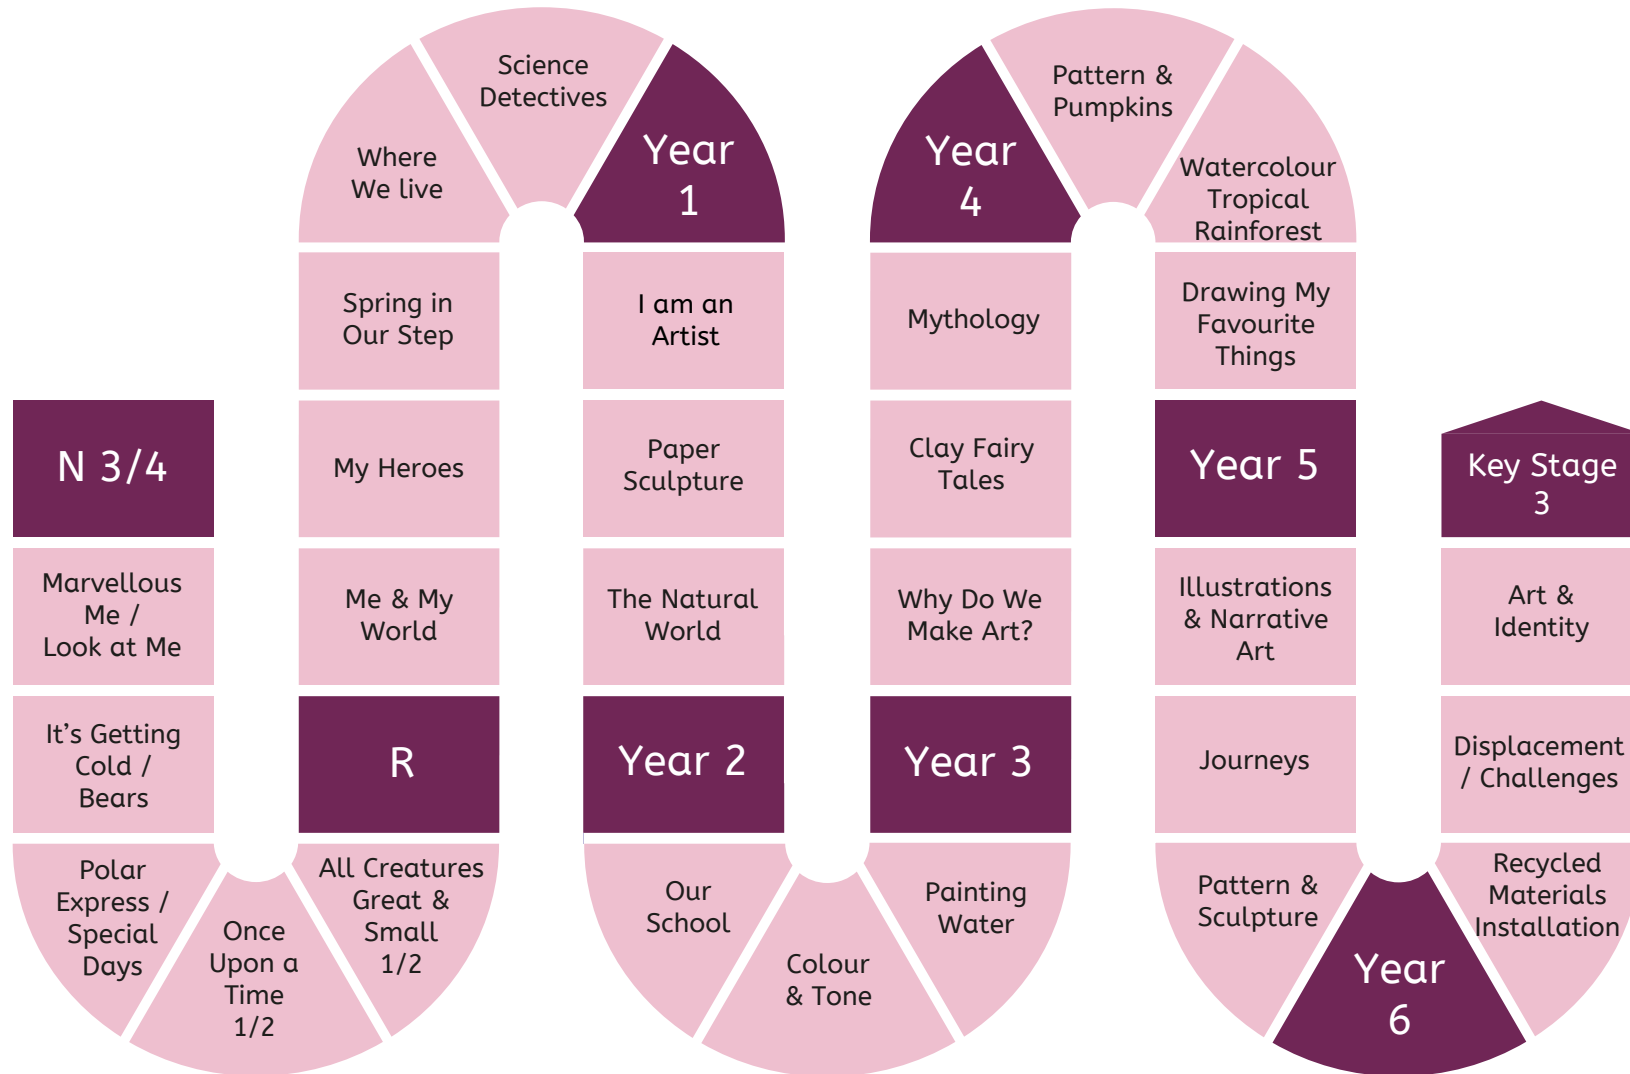

The United Curriculum for Art provides all children, regardless of their background, with:

- Entitlement
Regardless of their starting point, the curriculum allows pupils to produce creative work, to explore ideas and develop the confidence to excel in a broad range of artistic techniques. All pupils will learn about artists and cultures from across history and across the world.
- Coherence
Taking the National Curriculum as its starting point, the curriculum is sequenced from Early Years to Key Stage 3 and beyond so that pupils gradually develop and build their practical knowledge, including the formal elements, the use of a range of materials in two and three dimensions, and the techniques required to produce artwork. Theoretical and disciplinary knowledge is sequenced so that pupils build a deeper understanding across key stages.
- Mastery
All pupils will be explicitly taught about the formal elements – colour, form, line, pattern, shape, texture and tone – and other aspects of art knowledge in small steps. Pupils will revisit, develop and apply their skills with increasing technical proficiency.
- Adaptability
Our art curriculum is designed to give teachers flexibility, allowing them to select and adapt resources for their specific context. Schools are encouraged to bring it to life for their pupils by supplementing it with artists from their local area. In Key Stage 3, schools should select outcomes, materials and skills focus for units based on local context and teacher expertise.
- Representation
The Art curriculum provides children with the opportunity to explore historical and contemporary artists and artworks, who represent their own and others' cultures, values and beliefs. We will explore the context in which the art was produced, and consider the full breadth of human experience and expression through art.
- Education with Character
We aim to build and maintain pupils' confidence in their ability as artists to create. The curriculum will develop aspects of character such as resilience, confidence and risk taking. Through the curriculum, pupils are given opportunities to share, reflect and learn about each other's experiences whilst recognising the things we have in common.

Drawing the face and creating a shared exhibition. Yinka Shonibare Sonia Boyce History

NB: The artists suggested in each unit provide quality examples of practical knowledge and provide exposure to artists from across history from diverse backgrounds. However, you could supplement and replace these artists where appropriate with those from your local area.

Art & Design in Our Local Context

Art is taught in 6-lesson units, once a term (Art alternates with D&T).

The United Curriculum is sequenced so that meaningful links are made between subjects, and the order of units allows these connections to be made. For example, in Year 3 Spring pupils have the opportunity to create individual clay tiles which form part of collaborative storyboard illustrating a fairy tale. This unit links explicitly with the English curriculum unit Fairy Tale Crimes, in which pupils consider alternative readings of fairy tale characters and their intentions.

The United Curriculum for Art & Design has been adapted for [SCHOOL NAME] by considering the context of our pupils and the community.

For example:

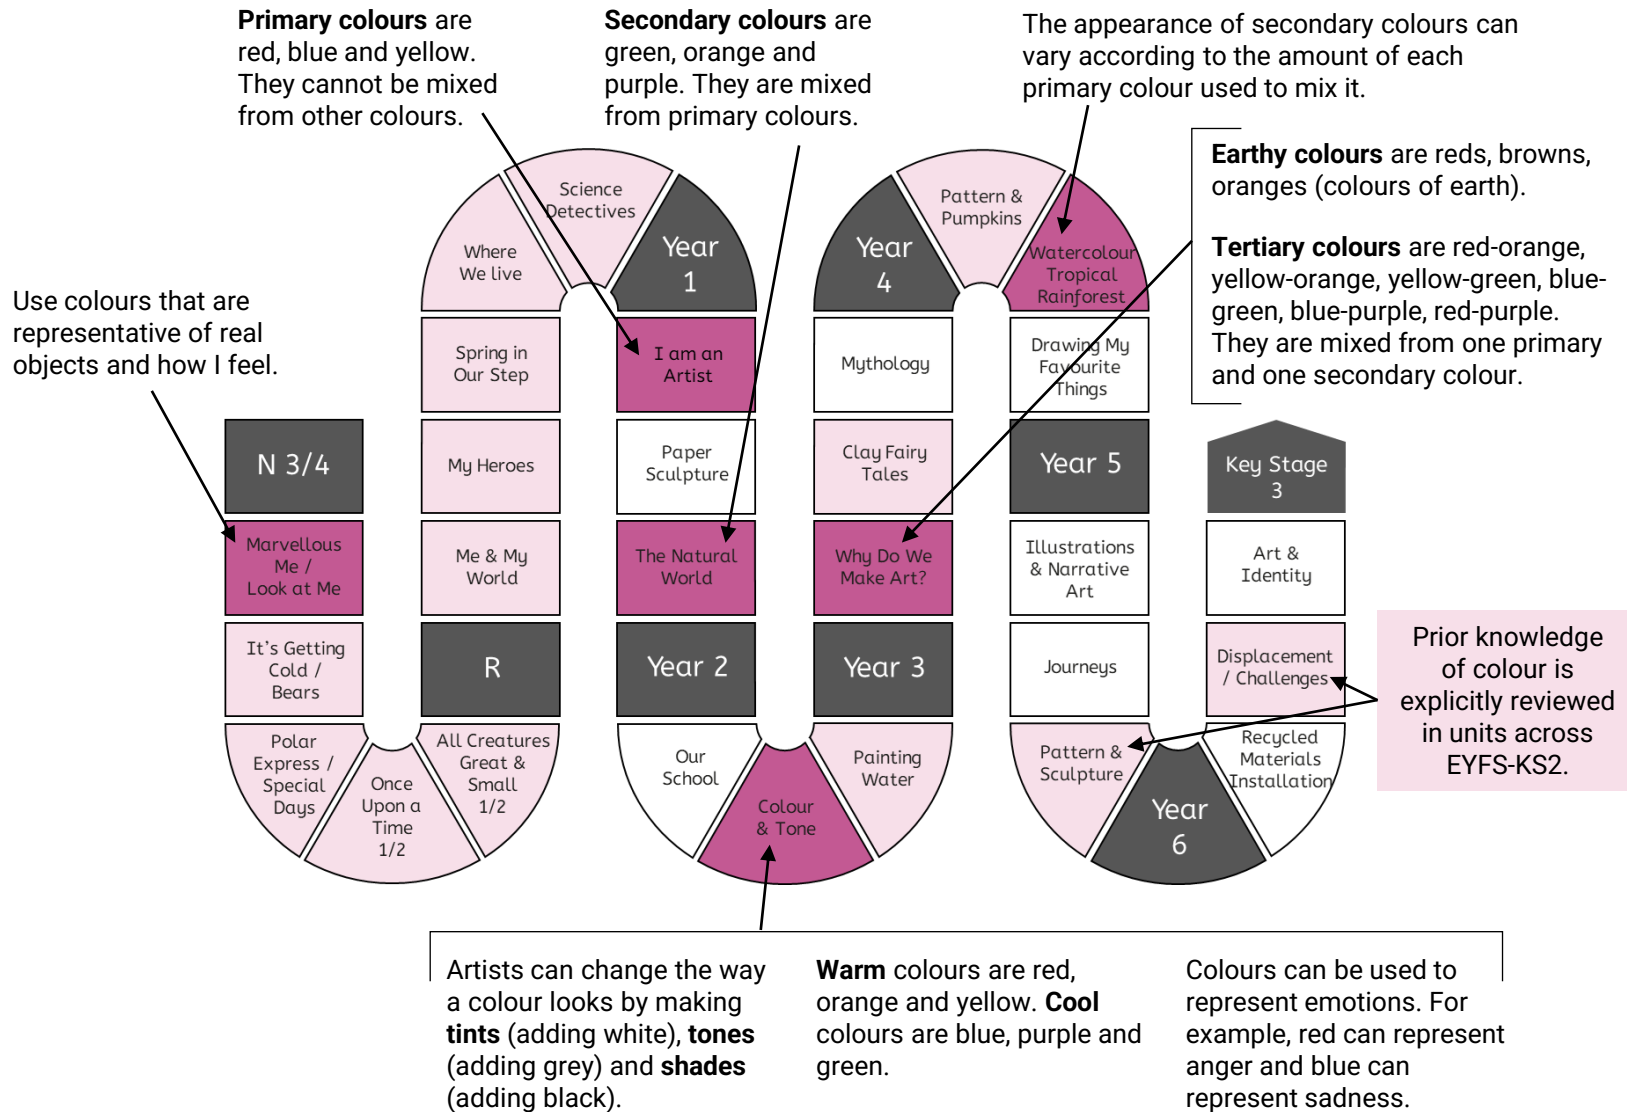

- Pupils learn about local artists and their work, both past and present e.g
- In Y1 Summer, pupils have the opportunity to explore the natural environment around their school building and record their findings using art techniques.
- In Y2 Autumn, pupils explore their school environment and consider the work of designers and architects in relation to their own built environment.
- In Y4 Summer and Y6 Summer, pupils are encouraged to explore and celebrate their identity through artwork.
- In Y5 Spring, pupils have the opportunity to record a journey they have made, during which they explore the local area through the study of maps.
- Please add any additional examples relevant to your school.

Tone is about light and dark in an artwork. A strong tone means there is a big difference (contrast) between the light and the dark areas.

Doing the same thing with different materials - like pencil, fineliner, biro, felt tip - can create a different tone.

Shadows are an area of darkness that can be created by a sculpture or other 3D object.

Explore mark making with different materials and using different pressure to create lighter and darker marks.

Tone can be created using the same pencil by pressing harder or lighter.

Tone can be created using different grades of pencil.

Prior knowledge of tone is explicitly reviewed in units across EYFS-KS2.

Manipulate shadows using torches to create a different tone.

Tone can be created using white pens and pencils, which highlight areas of the artwork.

Linear shading is a method of creating tone, often with a pen. Examples of linear shading include hatching, cross hatching and contoured hatching.

A line is a mark made on a surface that joins different points.

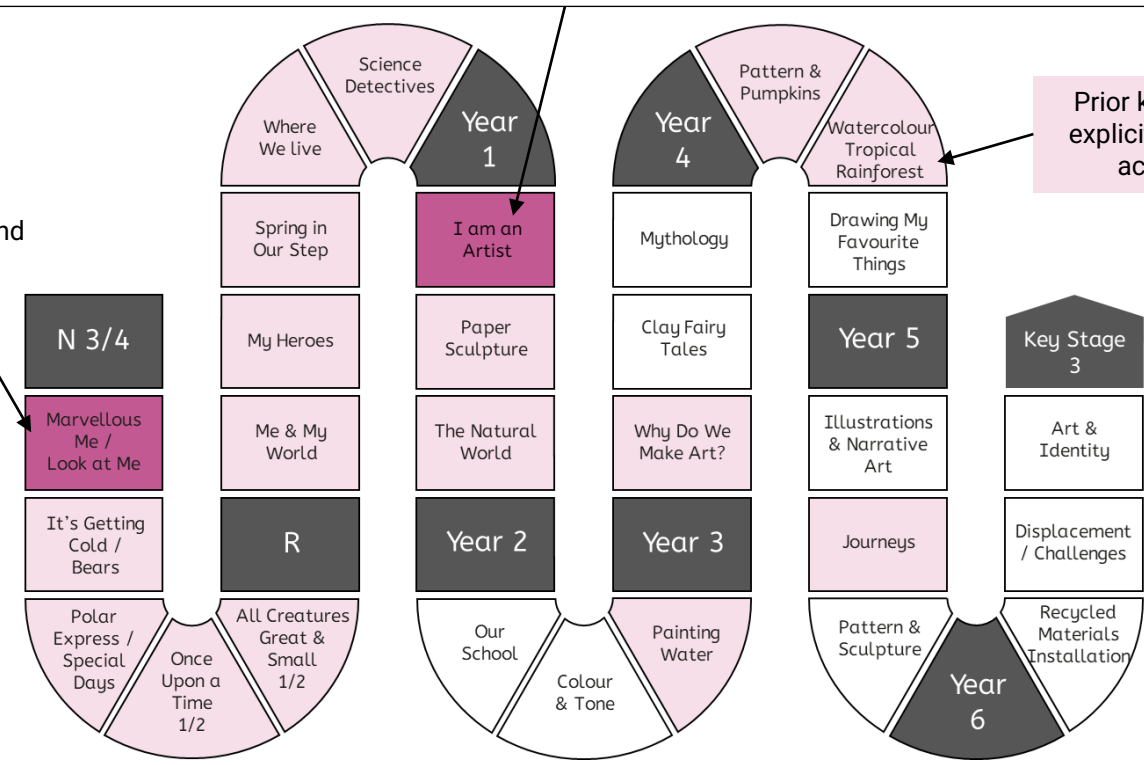

Lines can vary in length, width, direction and shape.

A continuous line drawing is one where the pencil does not leave the page.

Doing the same thing with different materials - like pencil, crayon, pens, charcoal - can create different lines.

Make marks including lines and closed shapes.

Prior knowledge of line is explicitly reviewed in units across EYFS-KS2.

A form is something that you can view from all sides [it is 3D].

A form can be created as a sculpture.

Make 3D sculptures in junk modelling.

A form can be represented using tone in a 2D artwork.

Prior knowledge of form is explicitly reviewed in units across EYFS-KS2.

Space is an area around an object.
Space is created when you make a 3D sculpture (e.g. the gap between two parts of the sculpture).

Implicitly create space when junk modelling.

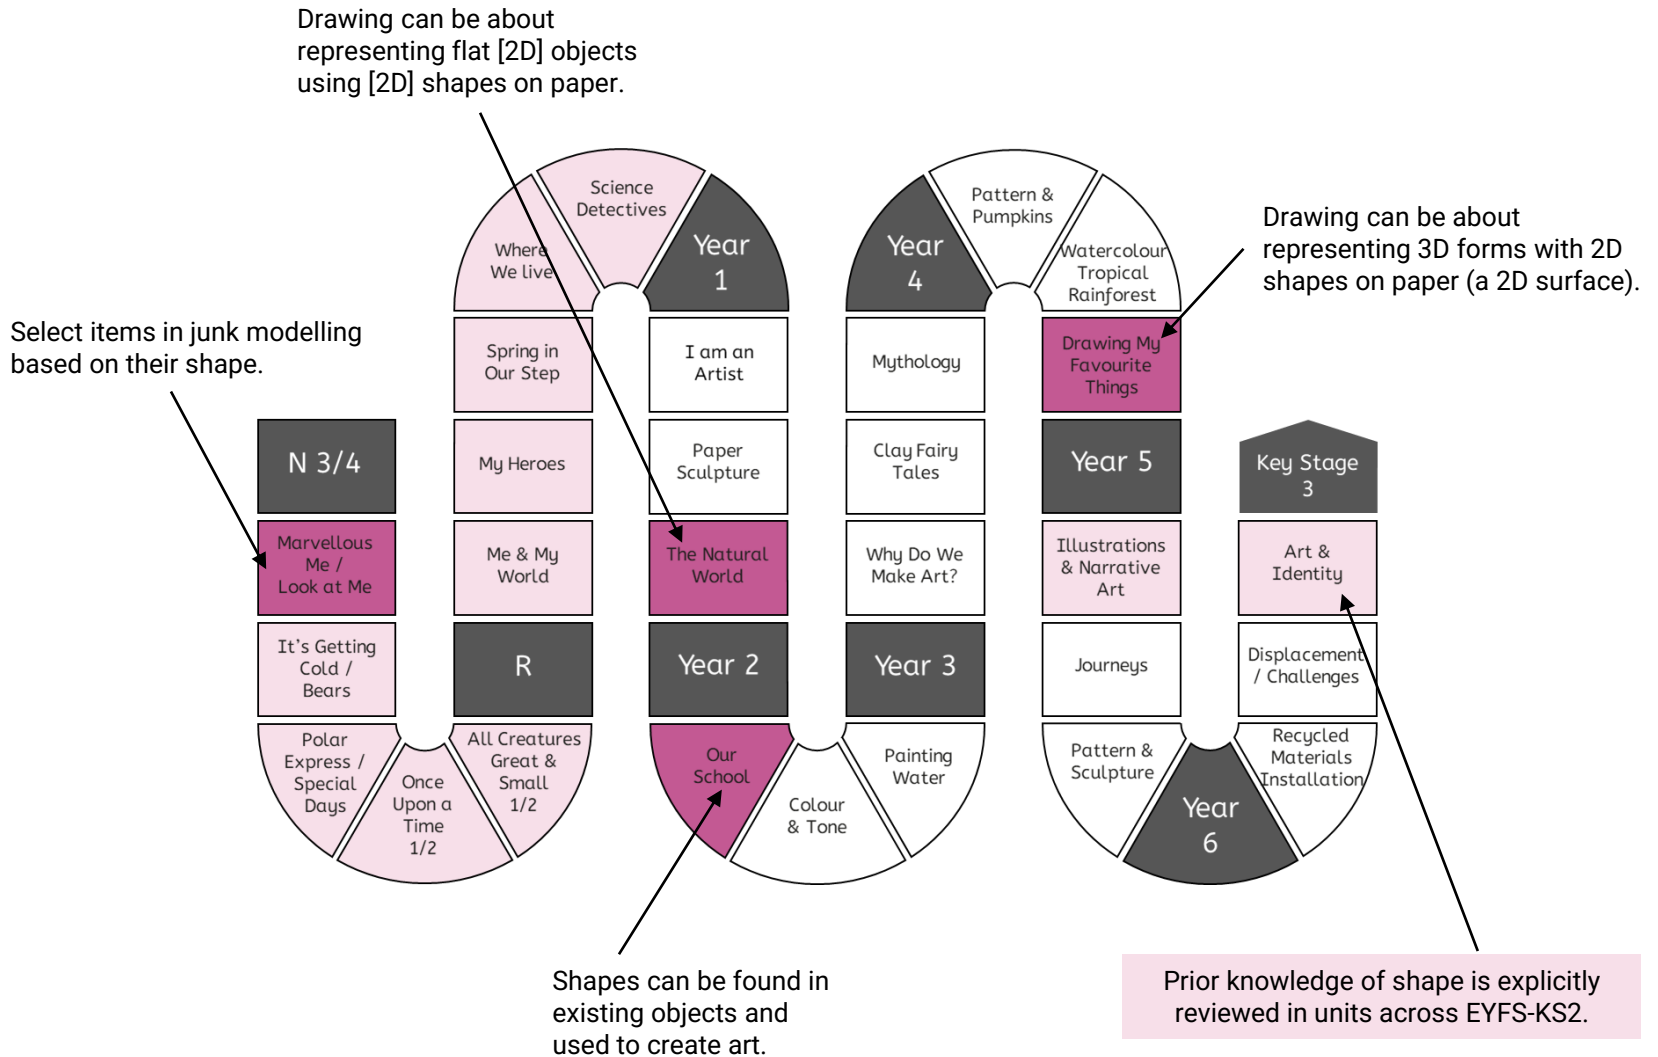

Space can be found around existing objects and used to create art.

Prior knowledge of space is explicitly reviewed in units across EYFS-KS2.

Different Artworks

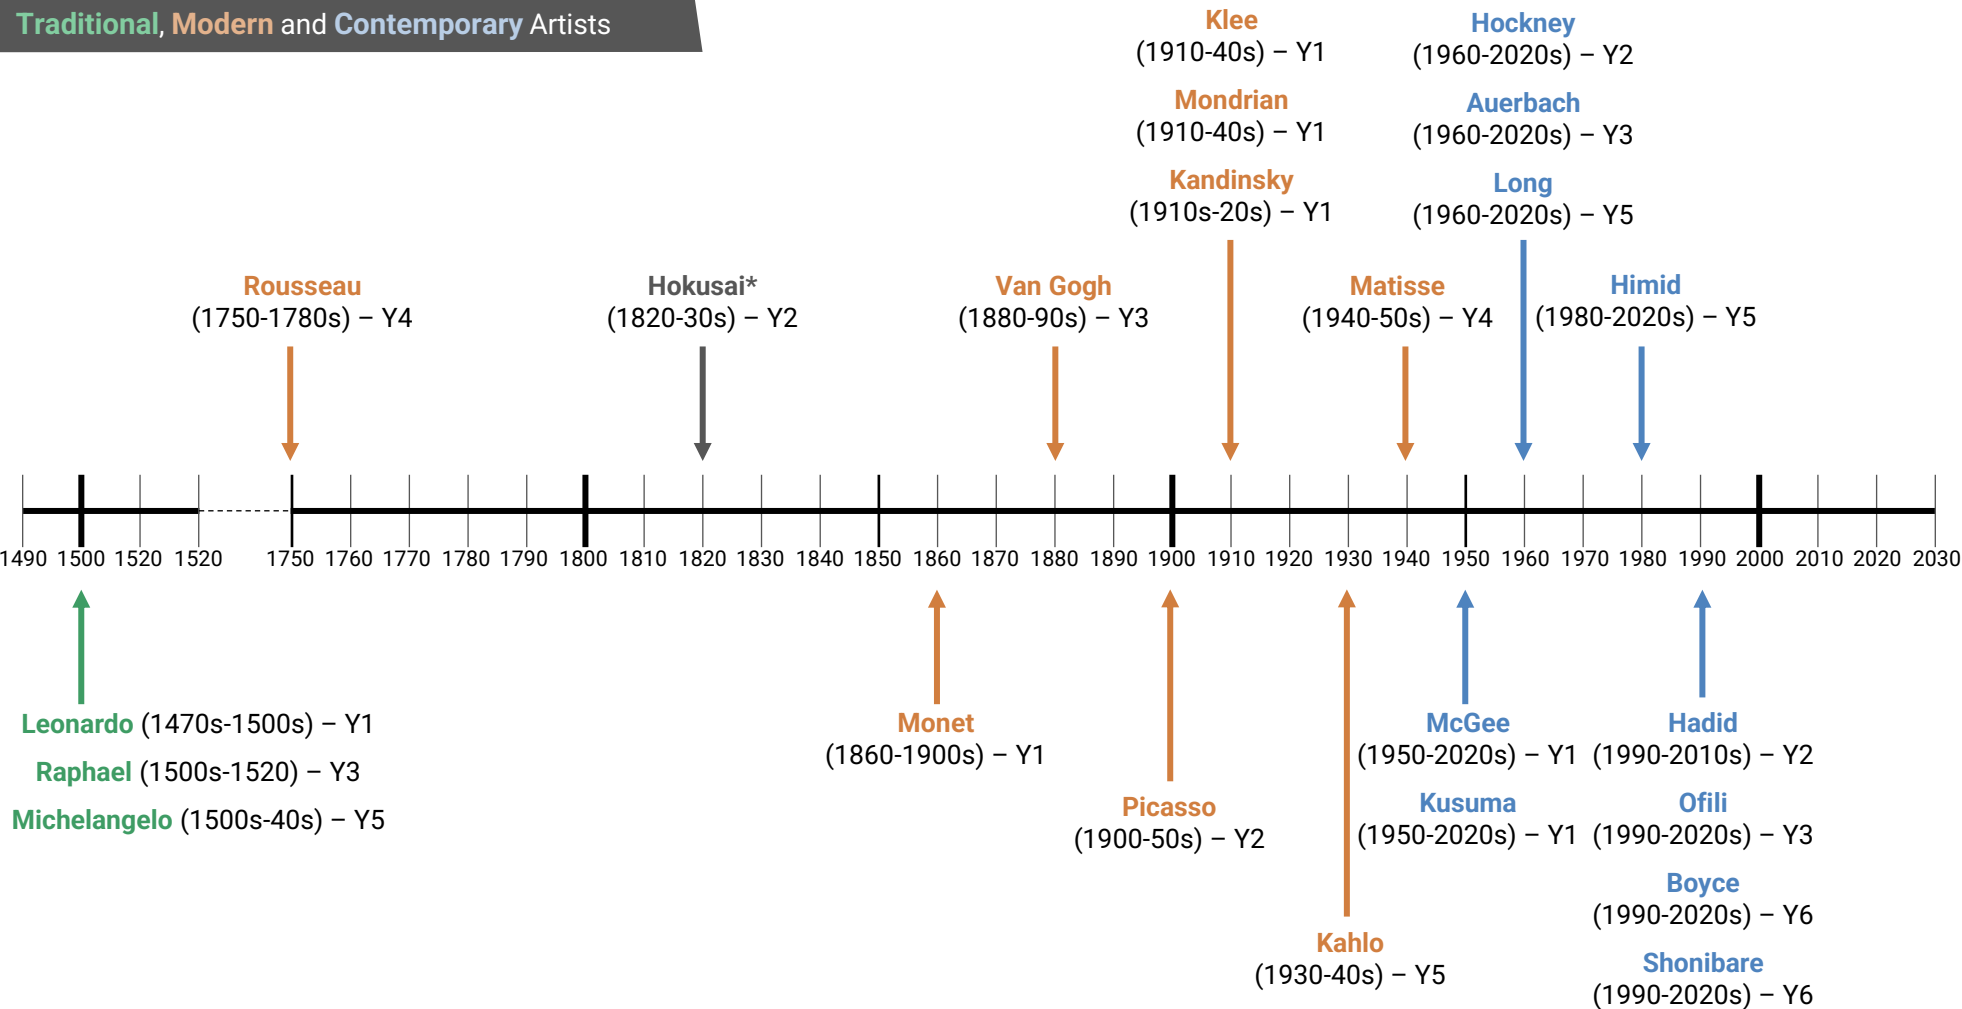

EYFS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Illustrations are the pictures in a book that tell a story. • Different artists make art in different ways.
Y1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Abstract art is art that does not try to look like things in the real world. Instead, it is made up of shapes, colors, and lines that might not look like anything you recognize. Representational art tries to look like things in the real world, such as people, animals, or objects. When you look at representational art, you can usually tell what it is supposed to be. • Art can be flat [2D] or something that you look around [3D]. • A sculpture is an artwork can be viewed from all sides [it is 3D]. A sculptor is an artist who makes sculptures.
Y2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Illustrations help to tell a story. Artists who make illustrations are called illustrators. • A collage is an artwork made by sticking pieces of paper or other materials onto a background.
Y3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mixed-media is artwork that uses more than one art material e.g., paint and pens. • Ceramics is the process of making art from clay. • A montage is a mixed-media artwork including collaged photographs. • Traditional art describes everything from early Christian art to the 1850s and is usually representational. • Modern art describes art made from around the 1850s to the 1970s. Modern artists wanted their art to show how they felt. It was more abstract than representational. • Contemporary art describes artwork being made by living artists, or art that has been made recently (e.g., 1980s onwards). Contemporary art can be anything and artists create work using traditional, modern and other techniques. • Traditional, modern and contemporary art definitions can only be applied to western art. • Artists can arrange objects or images in a composition. • Traditional composition is often made up of foreground, midground and background. • Perspective is the way a flat (2D) image looks deep (3D). • Illustrations help to tell a story. Narrative art tells a story on its own.
Y4	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A viewfinder can be used to identify an interesting section within a composition. • An assemblage is a 3D artwork usually made of found objects. • A still life is a genre of artwork that shows a collection of objects.
Y5	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Artwork does not have to be abstract or representational. It is a spectrum. Some artworks are representational (so you can recognise the objects from the real world), but they don't look realistic. • Expressive art conveys emotions and feelings. There are more examples of expressive art in modern and contemporary than traditional art. Expressive art can be representational or abstract.
Y6	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Installation art is designed to fill a specific space, often for a particular length of time. • An exhibition is a display of artwork. It is curated by a curator.

Alignment to the National Curriculum

The below tables outlines where the statutory content from the National Curriculum is first taught across KS1 or KS2. The curriculum has been sequenced so that much of the content is reviewed in subsequent units.

In KS1, pupils should be taught:

To use a range of materials creatively to design and make products	Y1 Aut, Y1 Spr, Y1 Sum, Y2 Aut
To use drawing, painting and sculpture to develop and share their ideas, experiences and imagination	Y1 Aut, Y1 Spr, Y1 Sum, Y2 Sum
To develop a wide range of art and design techniques in using colour, pattern, texture, line, shape, form and space	Y1 Aut, Y1 Spr, Y2 Aut, Y2 Sum
About the work of a range of artists, craft makers and designers, describing the differences and similarities between different practices and disciplines, and making links to their own work.	Y1 Aut, Y1 Spr, Y1 Sum, Y2 Aut, Y2 Sum

In KS2, pupils should be taught:

To develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design.	Y3 Aut, Y4 Aut, Y4 Sum
To create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas	(Y1) Y3 Aut, Y4 Aut, Y4 Spr, Y4 Sum, Y5 Aut, Y6 Sum
To improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay]	Y3 Aut, Y3 Spr, Y4 Aut, Y4 Spr, Y4 Sum
About great artists, architects and designers in history.	Y3 Aut, Y3 Sum, Y4 Aut, Y4 Spr, Y5 Aut

Implementation

The implementation of the United Curriculum for Art & Design reflects our broader teaching and learning principles:

For Art & Design in particular:

- Content is always carefully situated within existing schemas. Every unit considers the prior knowledge that is prerequisite for that unit and builds on that knowledge to develop a deeper understanding of that concept. For example, pupils are not expected to be able to produce a representational drawing until after they have explored a range of drawing materials and have had the opportunity to experiment and create using a range of materials, techniques and processes.
- Vertical concepts are used within lessons to connect aspects of learning. In Art and Design, this is most clearly evidenced in the progression of knowledge and skills linked through the formal elements (line, tone, space, shape, form, colour, pattern and texture). These building blocks of the subject offer opportunities for pupils to develop their knowledge and understanding as well as their practical skills.
- Disciplinary knowledge is explicitly taught to pupils and carefully sequenced to ensure pupils are provided with opportunities to practice these skills throughout the curriculum. Pupils are encouraged to engage with big questions about the meaning and purpose of art, as well as exploring the concept of creativity in both a theoretical and very practical way. Our purpose is to allow our pupils to see themselves as artists by developing their innate creativity through building their confidence in knowledge, understanding and skill.

The careful sequencing of the curriculum – and how concepts are gradually built over time – is the progression model. If pupils are keeping up with the curriculum, they are making progress. Formative assessment is prioritised and is focused on whether pupils are keeping up with the curriculum.

In general, this is done through:

Use of sketchbooks and pupil-conferencing

Unless it is unavoidable, pupils use the same sketchbook over multiple years, until it is complete. Sketchbooks contain a record of pupils' progress over a significant period of time. Talking to pupils about their sketchbooks allows us to assess how much of the curriculum content is secure. These conversations are used to determine whether pupils have a good understanding of the vertical concepts (practical knowledge), and if they can link recently taught content to learning from previous units.

Formative assessment in lessons

There are opportunities for formative assessment in the lessons, and teachers continually adapt their lesson delivery to address misconceptions and ensure that pupils are keeping up with the content.

Low-stakes summative assessment

We also use low-stakes quizzes at the end of the unit to assess whether pupils have learned the core knowledge for that unit. These are also used formatively, and teachers plan to fill gaps and address misconceptions before moving on.
